COST SYSTEM STARTED BY CITY

Miles Deluged by Department Queries

PUMPS AND PINS

Pens, Ink, Guns and Shells "In Stock" Included

City Clerk E. H. Miles found himself the storm center of the flurry sweeping every city department today as a result of the cost accounting system going into effect.

Inventories were launched all over the city hall, at the city barn, storerooms, pumping stations and other places operated by the city of Port Arthur.

What About Prisoners?

Ladders, trucks, chairs, tables, beds and benches in the fire department were counted and tallies of gasoline and the hose lengths measured. Up in the police department count was made of the guns and rounds of ammunition the city owns, listed the mattresses in the jail, and accounted for pens, ink and literature used by the desk sergeants.

Down in his office Miles held audiences in rapid fire succession with department heads, stenographers, storeroom keepers and foremen. They asked every possible question, the city clerk said, from whether they should count the waste baskets and pins to how they could determine the value of a 1,000 gallon-per-minute electrical driven pump.

Absolute Accuracy in Future

When the inventories are completed and recorded, Miles will keep the records in his office, checking up on breakage, losses and transfer from one department to another, and balancing the accounts more accurately than has ever before been possible, he said.

The system was prepared by a Beaumont accounting firm after the city commission passed a resolution authorizing the adoption of the cost accounting system for the city.

Girl, Ejected from Chaplin's Home Takes Poison at Door

Pola Negri Angered When She Learns Admirer Makes Self at Home In Comedian's Room

LOS ANGELES, April 2.—Charles Chaplin, the comedian, today told of the trials and tribulations of himself and Pola Negri, his fiancée, and his household in trying to deal with a movie mad, lovesick girl from old Mexico, who tried to commit suicide on his door step.

Beautiful Marina Vega, 16, of Mexico City, daughter of a high Castilian family, loved Charles so much in the pictures that she ran away from home and came to Hollywood, confident that she could win the comedian.

She arrived, only to find that Pola Negri, famed Polish beauty, had done the work of "vamping" first and that Charles was engaged to her.

Nothing daunted, she went to Charles' home, slipped past the Chinese cook and got into Charles' room.

Charles today declared that as he and Pola and Dr. Cecil Reynolds were about to sit down to dinner his valet came in to say that a beautiful girl was in his bedroom wearing his pink pajamas and that she refused to be dislodged.

Charles and Dr. Reynolds talked to the girl after Pola Negri had become very angry at her and asked her "what she was doing in Mr. Chaplin's bedroom."

"Dr. Reynolds and I listened to her story and advised her to go back to Mexico City," said Charles. "Her case was very pathetic and I was willing to pay her way back."

The girl was taken to her hotel. At the hospital she was said to have admitted swallowing the poison because of her broken heart.

Complicated Issues Brought Before I. C. C. Examiner

FLANAGAN TESTIFIES

Says K. C. S. Interrupted Business as Port

That local shipping business has materially decreased since the establishment of the Port Arthur Canal and Dock company, and belief that it would increase if traffic on a reasonable switching basis could be obtained, was the substance of testimony introduced by the plaintiff this morning when the case of the Port Arthur Chamber of Commerce and Shipping vs. the Texas-Kansas & Fort Smith et al was reopened for hearing before Attorney Examiner Fred N. Oliver, representing the Interstate Commerce commission.

Control "Detrimental"

The Chamber of Commerce contends that if the docks controlled by the dock company were "thrown open" by means of a reasonable switching charge to other railroads, that the shipping facilities now held here by the subsidiaries of the Kansas City Southern would be taxed to capacity with business. It is the chamber's contention also that the control of the docks by the K. C. S. is a detriment to the shipping industry here.

The case had been heard by the Interstate Commerce commission some time ago, when an opinion unfavorable to Port Arthur was rendered. It was reopened through an appeal of the Chamber of Commerce.

Opening of the docks, and the establishment of a reasonable switching charge, means an increase in the shipping industry for Port Arthur, according to Chamber of Commerce officials.

C. S. Flanagan, a resident here since June 30, 1897, and who is in the stevedore business, was the first witness for Port Arthur to take the stand this morning, when the case was begun in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium. He told the history of the shipping industry of Port Arthur from the time dating prior to the digging of the canal to Beaumont from Sabine.

Kerne, conductor, gave its first public concert in Franklin auditorium, assisted by Mrs. R. L. Drake, soprano, and Miss Hortense Smith, contralto.

After rendering Easter music at the evening service, the choir of the First Presbyterian church, Mrs. J. E. Grammer, director, went to the Electrical Supply company and broadcasted the program over the radio sending set.

Despite the cool weather, numbers of straw hats made their first appearance on the streets yesterday, and spring suits were numerous.

ROBBERS ESCAPE

Depredations Occur at St. Louis, Springfield

BATTLE POLICE

Use Sawed-Off Shotguns, Fire Softened Bullets

ST. LOUIS, Mo., April 2.—Six heavily armed bandits held up a government mail truck here today and escaped with nine sacks of registered mail.

The robbers intercepted the truck, covered the driver and armed guard with revolvers, seized the mail sacks and dashed away in an automobile.

No estimate of the amount of money contained in the sacks had been made.

The truck was carrying the heavy Easter week-end mail from the post office to the bridge branch post office in the heart of the commission district near the waterfront.

"Wild West" Methods

Officials investigating the holdup came to the theory that it was carried out by the gang that robbed the mail truck at Springfield Sunday morning. One of the suspects captured at Springfield was well known St. Louis police character.

The St. Louis holdup was carried out in regulation "wild west" methods, used in the Springfield robbery.

"Bringing their automobile to a stop directly in front of the mail truck, the bandits leaped out, five of them holding sawed off shotguns, and the sixth leveling two heavy caliber revolvers at the driver and guards of the truck."

All Bandits Masked

All of the bandits were masked with large handkerchiefs.

Working deliberately three of the robbers transferred the mail sacks from the truck to the rear seat of their automobile.

The other bandits to the chauffeur and guard from the seat of the truck and locked them in the iron cage from which they had taken the mail. They drove the truck down a narrow alley before driving away in their own automobile. The imprisoned men called vainly from their cage for half an hour before they were rescued by a passerby.

Non-negotiable pay checks totalling $25,000 for all mail carriers of six downtown branches were among the loot in the stolen pouches, postal authorities disclosed.

The most complete roundup of crooks in St. Louis, police records was started in search of the robbers. Hundreds of patrolmen and detectives off duty were ordered to report and aid in throwing a net over the city and surrounding country.

TAKE 6 SACKS AT SPRINGFIELD

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 2.—Six unmasked men who seized six sacks of mail at the Chicago and Alton railway station here yesterday and staged a running gun battle with police in making a getaway, were sought through three states today.

Police claimed to have information that the raid was made by gangsters known as "Egan's Kats," having ramifications in Chicago and St. Louis. Hunts in those two cities, as well as in Illinois were being watched.

The robbers, suddenly descending on the station with revolvers and sawed-off shotguns, obtained a little if any valuable loot, postal authorities said today. They missed a sack of registered mail, it was declared.

Police came on the scene just as the robbers were leaving, tearing open letters and mail sacks as they went. A running battle down the principal streets, the bandits firing shots and dum dum bullets, caused, throwing crowds at two or three dance halls into a panic.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

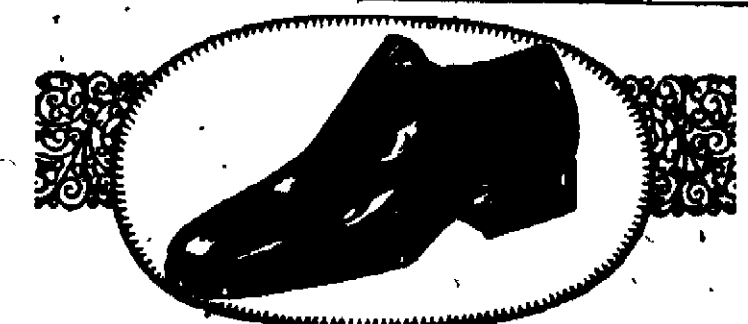

"Look in and see what you see," said the Shepherdess.
The Twins went with the pretty Sheep Picture Shepherdess in a Palm Land.
"I'll tell you where the Cut-Out
Lady lives," she said, "if you two will do me a favor."
"Oh, yes, indeed, we'll be glad to,"
replied Nancy, obligingly.
So they walked back through the field of lolly-pops and past the chocolate-bud bushes and the trees full of sundae-ices, and the soda fountain and the stalls of pop-corn nuts, toward the granulated sugar Easter-egg, where the Scrap Picture Shepherdess and she lived.
The Twins turned their heads away this time, however. They had no appetite for any more goodies.
"We got sick eating so much," Nick explained. "We want to find the Cut-Out Lady to see if she can give us some medicine."
"Come and help me and you won't need any medicine," smiled the pretty shepherdess.
Just then they arrived at the white granulated sugar Easter egg. It had pink candy fluff all around the edges of the round doorway.
"Look in and see what you see,"
said the Shepherdess. She smiled sweetly and shook her golden curls and held out her blue skirts and pointed her tiny slippers—all so daintily that Nancy expected to see a room inside of the doorway—a gold and silver and satin room befitting so lovely a person.
But behold!
Through the doorway, instead of a room, another country met the children's astonished gaze—a country with green grass and a barn and cows and pigs and sheep and chickens.
"That's my farm," said the Shepherdess. "I need help with the milking and haying and chickenfeeding and sheep-tending. If you'll help me I'll tell you where the Cut-Out Lady lives. Besides, exercise is a fine thing for people who eat too many goodies."
"We'll come," cried the Twins, and they stepped through the pink candy doorway of the big white granulated sugar Easter egg, right on to the farm of the pretty Shepherdess.

A PUZZLE A DAY

A florist had twenty pots of geraniums, arranged as shown above. He wished to set them in a more unusual order, which he finally did in the new arrangement, the pots formed just thirteen different perfect squares, the plants serving as corners. Can you duplicate the arrangement? Each square is to be composed of four plants as illustrated by the dotted lines above.

Yesterday's answer.
The values of a hat, shirt and pair of socks added together gave the price of a pair of shoes, $6.75. Multiplied together they produce the same result. The hat and shirt are equal in value.
The hat and shirt are each worth three dollars. The socks are worth seventy-five cents.
3 plus 3 plus .75 equals $6.75.
3 x 3 x .75 equals $6.75.

L. Robertson, of Midland and W. D. Allison, of Port, both inspectors for the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers' Association were slain, according to reports here today.

The shooting is said to have occurred in the lobby of a hotel. Robertson and Allison were seated in the lobby when the two men entered. The latter "were quicker on the draw," it was said, and began shooting. Both inspectors fell dead.

HEARING IN DOCK CASE UNDER WAY

ranges containing agricultural products, smelter, iron ores, various and sundry commodities had been shipped from Port Arthur in the earlier days of the port, and that this port had enjoyed a healthy business until the Kansas City Southern took charge of the docks.

"We had just what a real port ought to have," Mr. Flanagan asserted, "and during that time, the Kansas City Southern, which was then the Kansas City, Pittsburgh and Gulf, conducted their business here through 'foreign freight agents'."

"During the last 10 years," Mr. Arthur Canal and Dock company has owned and operated the various shipping facilities here, and there has been a marked decrease in business," he continued.

Mr. Flanagan declared that in his opinion shipping agents here and elsewhere could build up a bigger volume of foreign business "if we had free routing."

"The Southern Pacific," he said, "is not trying to build up a shipping business. I understand, because of the control of the docks by the Kansas City Southern."

"We had a healthy business in the beginning of Port Arthur," the witness went on, "and now, with the K. C. S. controlling those docks down there, we have a sorry business."

Mr. Flanagan declared that business at other ports is being developed and he cited the increased volume of shipments at Beaumont to substantiate his argument.

"Shipments to go out of Beaumont," he said in this connection, "must pass right by Port Arthur facilities to get up there."

Facilities Second to None
"Would opening up of the routing encourage a greater volume of business?" he was asked.

"It would, if it was backed up by good service; the facilities and possibilities here are second to none on the gulf. Opening up the routing would invite other railroad lines into Port Arthur," Mr. Flanagan responded.

Then he asserted that "there is a heavy congestion of traffic at Galveston during the fall because there is no other port open to divert the shipments to."

On cross examination, he denied that business has shown a steady increase since 1897, and said that on the other hand, tonnage has been decreasing.

"From '98 up to around 1908 and 1910," the witness said, "the K. C. S. 'foreign freight agents' here trying to get business through Port Arthur, but show their abolition or since they have been taken off, the volume of business through this port has shown a steady increase."

"No Results," Says Flanagan
"Do you think the Kansas City Southern is not trying to get business through this port?" attorney for the defense queried.

"I don't see any results, and results show the efforts, Flanagan said.

"The Kansas City Southern got the Transmarine Corporation to come here, didn't they, Mr. Flanagan?"

"I am told that it was through the Kansas City Southern's efforts the Transmarine Corporation came here, but the time has come for the Kansas City Southern to quit talking and fill up their empty facilities."

"Do you think we ought to give our rival companies the use of our facilities for nothing?"

"No—but you ought to do something to open up the docks out there and get the business that's being done elsewhere."

600,000 men and women have found a new road to increased health, energy and efficiency. Simply from the proper use of warm water.

Yet 9 out of 10 people today are needlessly in constant danger of serious illness—caused by Constipation and "Auto-intoxication," which means "self-poisoning."

This is due to the fact that, with the sedentary lives we lead, waste matter accumulates in the large intestine. Not even cathartics can cleanse the intestine properly. The residue remains and breeds large colonies of poisonous germs—which are absorbed by the blood.

The Internal Bath—with the J. B. L. Cascade—gives the proper cleansing with simple warm water. It is the method perfected by Dr. Chas. A. Tyrrell after years of research. More than 600,000 Americans have been restored to new health and energy by this method.

The story of Dr. Tyrrell's life work and the "how and why" of internal bathing are of vital interest to you. They are told in an interesting book entitled "Why Man of Today Is Only 50 Per Cent Efficient."

If you will write or call on us, we will be glad to give you a copy of this book free—and entirely without obligation.

Average Temperature 58.8,
Rainfall 5-97 Inches

Forty-nine per cent of the possible amount of sunshine, thunder on 11 days, 10 clear days, eight partly cloudy and 13 cloudy are other points in the monthly report prepared by Carlson. On March 20 the mercury dropped to 28, breaking the previous low record of 31, in 1917; and the high temperature for the month was 81, on the twelfth.

PICTURES TELL PASSION PLAY

Mrs. Wm. Oeschger Gives Illustrated Lecture

The Passion Play, dealing with events transpiring in Christ's life the week before His resurrection, beginning with Palm Sunday, was given at the First Christian church by Mrs. William Oeschger.

Preceding the Passion Play proper several pictures were shown, showing the little village of Oberammergau in Bavaria, where the Passion Play is enacted by the simple peasants. The play has been given faithfully by the peasants during the past three centuries, since the town was made to God that if He would deliver them from a severe plague that they would give these events every ten years.

Scenes of the people and their occupations, their homes, wonderful views of the Alps and the great theater, which seats four thousand people and wherein is enacted the great drama, and the characters of the Passion Play were also shown.

The triumphal entry of Christ into Jerusalem on Palm Sunday, the events taking place on Monday and Tuesday, the Last Supper, Jesus' betrayal of Christ, His trials, His crucifixion, and His resurrection were given in wonderful detail at last night's lecture. Personal touches were given the lectures by Mrs. Oeschger's experience in Oberammergau, where she saw the Passion play in 1910.

AMOR OF SEX RAPS OLD MEN

Pirates Find Them The Easiest Victims

DUNTAI LAKES, N. J., April 2.—Love pirates find their easiest prey now in wealthy middle-aged men who are now in the heyday of their sex glamor, and luxury and hence have fabled human appetites.

It is the analysis made by Ar. Stringer, famous novelist, of the life of the "King of Broadway" model, and J. Kearney Mitchell, rich New York City banker, and a partner in the middle-aged quarrel.

Stringer's novel, "The Wine of the World," is a study of studio life and depicts this sex situation. And his famous trilogy—"The Wine of the World," "The Prairie Child," and "The Prairie Child"—paraphrasing the "dangerous age for men" and "the danger for women," also for the killing of William Desmond Taylor, movie director, and the double murder in Hill-Mills case.

New York is an over-sexed city," Stringer, "and this latest affair is it to be the most dangerous for middle-aged and elderly men whom sex hunger has developed by. It raises the serious question whether man is not innately polygamous.

Secret intrigues are growing. This shows how thin the veneer of civilization is—that marriage, as institution is only 6000 years old, like the Volstead act, you can enforce social purity. Man has the right for stimulation. Sex instinct is explosive in some than in others.

Men are easy victims, for environment is such as to combine with over-stimulation. Nations have become sex stimulating, "charms," literature, music, and movies. Obnoxious things exist in the world, even though covered. And adding there has been the revival of the brutally frank erotic novel, authors such as Lawrence, Auden, Dreiser and Cabell.

Love Pirates

Stringer points to the changing in women "love pirates" now known in Broadway idiom as "sugar babies," as brought in the Dorothy King murder instance. They used to be known as "models," but are now usually "models." The chief character in "The Wine of Life" is a model, described as "a dark flower of the night."

Secret affairs," said the novelist, "is a out of a jaded appetite. Sex is so persistent it doesn't need passion, but mercenary men engulf love piracy have found it profitable. The pathetic appeal of youth to a purely physical appeal. The man, wife and children notwithstanding, the stronger the appeal, the more 'model' is luxury loving. And only the older men could to indulge in such 'heavy' unions, too, have a dangerous Stringer thinks. It is the time when children have grown up and is a temptation to the man's nature to cure boredom. But the man of middle age has greater sex, he believes.

IRVED FOR CAT, HE SAYS; WANTS DECREE

STROIT, April 2.—From the no stand, Harry E. Springer, living in a suit for divorce from wife, Nettie, owner of a rooming house, explained that the house cat was the cause of disturbance. Springer family. He said he liked his wife, but the judge, "and it was always hot to read it. On many occasions I was chased out of the house in the night in search for kidnaping the cat. What aggravated me was that on many such a night, chasing for supper for the cat, had to go without supper." Springer, the other charges made by Springer against his wife was her refusal to take him out to show him time. This meant much to be explained, as the family name is in the hands of Mrs. Springer.

MAKES GOOD HIS BOAST AT JUMBO'S BIER

TUSKO BIGGEST IN CIRCUS WORLD

Barnes Sees Dream of 37 Years Come True

Thirty-seven years ago a farmer lad stood in the railway yards at St. Thomas, Ontario, and gazed at the huge, huddled bulk of Jumbo, dead, killed by a Grand Trunk railway switch engine.

The lad was Al G. Barnes, known throughout that part of the province as "the boy horse trainer," a lad whose father had a standing forfeit of $100 posted for anyone that could produce a balky equine; that young Al G. could not drive off in ten minutes.

Gazing on the dead Barnum elephant, young Barnes declared, "Some day I'll have a bigger circus than this one and I'll have a bigger elephant than Jumbo." By-standers laughed, but there were some who gave a second thought to the lad's boast, for they had a lively respect for his way with animals.

The next year the boy took the road with a pug dog and a greyhound. His rise to the ownership and operation of the world's largest wild animal circus is the greatest individual achievement in the history of the circus. And this year, Al G. Barnes has made good—more than made good—his boyish boast by presenting to the American public Tusko, the largest elephant in the world, a foot taller than Jumbo and a ton and a half heavier—an elephant with tusks six feet long, a veritable mammoth. When the Al G. Barnes Wild Animal Circus comes to Port Arthur Wednesday, April 4, be sure and see Tusko. He is an education in himself. The world will never see his like again.

Legs no Treat to Trio Of African Engineers

NEW YORK, April 2.—Three African engineers who for five years have been employed by a Belgian diamond syndicate in its mines in Angola, Africa, cut off from civilization, arrived Saturday on the Red Star liner Lapland.

They were Orlog Ayles, C. Mason Farham and Edward Horrie. They said they have been so long out of the world that one of the first things they intended doing was going to a good theatrical performance.

"What would you suggest?" one of the engineers asked. The reporter queried mentioned an annual revue, an institution in New York life, noted for the beauty of its women and bewitching sensuality of their costumes.

The three sadly shook their heads and one of them said: "No, not for us. For five years we've seen women without no clothes on. We're fed up on that sort of thing."

MIRAGE OF A VESSEL UPSIDE DOWN SEEN

SYDNEY, April 2.—An extraordinary sea mirage was witnessed recently in Spencer's Gulf, South Australia, by officers of the steamship Trevithick, bound to Fremantle.

The display began with the appearance of a ship ahead, of which the funnels were plainly seen. A little later, between ship and sea appeared a distorted vessel, like the creation of a mad shipbuilder, possessing neither lines nor any distinct type of construction, upside down, with crazy propellers madly churning the vacant sky.

At one time the display took the form of an inverted picture of dozens of vessels of all sizes, moving in different directions. Then suddenly the ships merged into one.

Officers of the Trevithick declared the phenomenon was the most wonder in their experience.

COMPELLING PICTURE

If a man may be down but not out, why not a woman? In the case of Miriam in "Outcast," starring Elsie Ferguson, the famous Salvation Army slogan might well be changed to read, "A woman may be down, but she's never out."

There is an inspiring answer in the picture, an exceptional strong drama of a man who, because of unrequited love, goes down to the depths and is helped up again by a girl who is also down.

Mary McLaren and David Powell are in the supporting cast. "Outcast" plays today and Tuesday at the Peoples theatre.

WESLEY BARRY HERE

"School Days" featuring that clever little freckled face imp, Wesley Barry, opens a five-day engagement at the Peoples theatre today. This is a corking good "kid" tale that will bring back fond memories and at the same time serve as healthy food for the fans.

Bridal Ring Too Small So Wedding is Halted

LONDON, April 2.—There was an unusual interruption to a wedding ceremony in a North London register office when the bridegroom put the ring on the bride's finger and found that it would not go beyond the knuckle. He made several attempts to get the ring on, but without success.

Saying that the jeweler must have mistaken the size, the bridegroom asked the registrar if he could wait till he got it changed. The official said that the ring did not matter, as they had both said the contracting words and were legally married. All that remained was to sign the register.

"Oh, but we must be married properly," replied the bridegroom. "I want my wife to have her ring now and in your presence." The bride agreed, so leaving her in the office, he hurried to the jeweler's and returned with a larger ring.

MEDAL DATED 1674 FOUND IN UTAH CREEK

SALT LAKE CITY, April 2.—Apparently there is no solution to the mystery surrounding a brass medal issued in 1674 for the purpose of attracting settlers to Johnstown, Va., which was found several years ago in the bottom of a small stream in northeastern Utah by a prospector. The accepted theory, however, is that it was brought across the continent by Indians.

The medal is the property of Harry H. Elko, Nev., and on one side it has the legend "Johnstown Produce, Corn-Tobacco" and bears the serial number CCXXI. On the other side there is an Indian head not unlike that on American one-cent pieces.

ASKS JOB OF OPENING COAST 'GOLDEN GATE'

SAN FRANCISCO, April 2.—Mayor James Rolph, Jr., has received a letter from Michael J. Javote, Springfield, Mass., applying for the job of opening and closing the Golden Gate. Michael says he is 15 years old and desires to make his way in the world. He assumed opening and closing the Golden Gate was a public job within the gift of the mayor. Mayor Rolph wrote the applicant that the gate stayed open to all comers; consequently, the job didn't exist.

War Weakens Morality of English Women Says British 'Suff' Who Tells of 20,000,000 Spinsters

CICELY HAMILTON

LONDON, April 2.—"Anybody can see the position of women has grown worse since the war. Men are harder to come by—women are worse. There are more of them. And they must fight prejudices, customs, laws, discriminations. Things will get worse before they get better."

That comes from Cicely Hamilton, writer, speaker, actress—and one of the most prominent feminists in Europe.

Her experience as a lecturer before working girls' clubs during the war makes her an authority on Europe's problem of 20,000,000 women of the present generation who will be denied homes and children because there are no husbands for them.

"In England the after-the-war blow has hit women less hard despite the fact that we have two million more women than men," she says. "We have been used to this. For decades our men have migrated all over the world."

"Morals of the after-the-war woman have been definitely lowered. This began during the war. Women who were going to stay at home felt they owed everything to the men who were going to the trenches—and they gave."

"Unfortunately the war also created a huge class of women for whom there was only one word in the dictionary—pleasure."

"You see the result in the crowds of fun-seekers who haunt the flashy restaurants, the night clubs, the cabarets, the jazz palaces in every big European city."

"But, after all, this is only a passing phase."

SAM HALE IS HOPE OF CONNIE MACK FOR HIS 1923 SLUGGER

BY DELLY EVANS

PORT ARTHUR, Ala., April 2.—The addition of one ball player often makes a ball club. Connie Mack is hopeful that Sam Hale will supply the winning punch to his team.

"A winning ball club must have a good infield," says Mack. "I am hopeful that Hale at third will end my worries."

"You can't build a major league ball club over night. I have experimented with hundreds of players since 1914. For the first time I have the feeling that I am on the way to a winner."

"My club will stand up well under a man-to-man comparison. It is young and ambitious. There are no cliques. It is one happy family, every player being anxious to better his showing of last year."

"With me, as with every other big league manager, pitching is the big thing. If my club gets pitching it will make trouble for any other club in the league."

"My pitching should be good enough to make me dangerous. The staff is there if the boys will come through with it. However, I have no more worries on that score than a half dozen other managers."

"With the exception of John York I am not sure my pitchers are as good as the pitching staff of the American League. The pitching staff of the American League is the best in the world."

Jonnard May Turn Out to Be a Great Pitcher, After All

Moundsman Once Used to Act as Pall Bearer For McGraw's Crew Has Developed Into Ace Who May Be Given Chance.

BY HENRY L. FARRELL

NEW YORK, April 2.—Clyde Jonnard, a tall, lengthy youth from Nashville, was the pall bearer of the Giants last year. He toiled daily in the bullpen and when a game was blown he was sent in to use his right in shoveling the last dirt on the remains.

Over one winter, things seemed to have changed, however, for Jonnard. He will get at least a chance to kill a few games, and let some one else come in from the pen for the burial ceremony.

John McGraw, manager of the Giants, intimated that Jonnard is to be a regular pitcher this year and he is figuring on him for quite a few games.

Coached by Amos Rusie, the famous old pitcher who is now attached to the Polo Ground fields staff, Jonnard has come rapidly to the front and he may turn out to be a really great pitcher.

Rusie and McGraw think he will, and Jonnard thinks with them. The youngster reported to McGraw from the Little Rock club in 1920.

He has been up with the Detroit Tigers in 1919 but there were places on the Tiger team for pupils and he was sent back to Nashville. He went his way from there to Little Rock and then up again with the Giants.

Jonnard had a great fast ball, but McGraw wanted him to cultivate some curves and he didn't take to the development of hooks. Perhaps like lots of young boxers he couldn't understand why something was necessary besides a good fast right hand.

Rusie started working with the youngster while he was doing his daily vigil in the bullpen. He showed him how to get a hook on a fast ball and helped him along to acquire a floater for mixing purposes.

In May of last season, McGraw sent him to the Indianapolis club in the American Association where he started to carry out the teachings of his serious tutor. He went so big in the association that McGraw called him back and he is now ready for his real start.

NEFF VETOES 'ELECTRIC DEATH'

Says it Doesn't Provide For Those Sentenced to Hang

AUSTIN, Texas, April 2.—Governor Neff vetoed the bill which sought to change the mode of executing the death penalty from hanging to that of electrocution, and the veto also fell on the so-called "truth in fact" bill and the bill which undertook to change the time of holding the district court in the counties of Correll, Hamilton and Comanche. The author of the latter measure having requested the veto.

is Bill vetoed. The governor vetoed thirteen bills the past week and approved and filed 21 others. He has passed on 129 bills since March 19 and has about fifty yet to act upon. The governor's signing period expires next Tuesday.

Under the provisions of the electrocution bill, vetoed today, all persons condemned to death, whether for crime committed before the bill became a law or thereafter, are to be executed by electrocution by the warden of the state penitentiary at Huntsville. It specifically repeals certain enumerated articles of the code of criminal procedure relating to the sentence of death by hanging.

"There can be no valid objection against the state changing the execution of the death sentence from hanging to electrocution," the governor said in his veto statement. "If this bill, however, should become a law, it is drawn in such a way that there is no provision to take care of those convicted of the state who have already been sentenced to death by hanging."

The objection. The bill as drawn is retroactive and undertakes to change the punishment and manner of executing the death sentence already passed on a considerable number of persons who have been convicted for capital offenses and adjudged to hang. It is almost certain that almost any question of law, that should this bill as it is drawn, become a law at this time, that those in the state who have already been convicted and the death sentence passed against them, could not be executed, because this law would repeal the provisions of the law providing for the execution of the death sentence by hanging. The condemned person could not be executed by electrocution, because that he was not tried by electrocution, but by hanging.

The bill as drawn is retroactive and undertakes to change the punishment and manner of executing the death sentence already passed on a considerable number of persons who have been convicted for capital offenses and adjudged to hang. It is almost certain that almost any question of law, that should this bill as it is drawn, become a law at this time, that those in the state who have already been convicted and the death sentence passed against them, could not be executed, because this law would repeal the provisions of the law providing for the execution of the death sentence by hanging. The condemned person could not be executed by electrocution, because that he was not tried by electrocution, but by hanging.

Fourth Sacker

Muddy Ruel

It has been definitely decided who will catch Walter Johnson the coming season. When Walter is selected to pitch his first game the announcer will yell:

"For Washington, Johnson will pitch and Ruel will catch."

Manager Bush has selected Muddy Ruel as Johnson's partner. Thus Ruel will become the fourth catcher to be paired off with the great Johnson.

The original battery was Johnson and Street, then came Johnson and Almsmith, followed by Johnson and Pienich. The very latest is Johnson and Ruel.

Ruel does not appeal. When with New York he handled the fast-ball pitchers of the Yankees. Ruel will also be paired with Allan Kessel, the spitballer.

Edly Charrity never liked to catch Johnson and incidentally has never done much receiving for spitballers, so it is certain Ruel will be behind the bat when either Johnson or Russell works.

PELICANS BEAT EXPORTERS OUT IN 9TH FRAME

Martina Pitches Great Ball For Visitors

Special to The News. BEAUMONT, Texas, April 2.—The New Orleans Pelicans got away to a sterling rally in the ninth frame here yesterday, and capped a brilliant game by beating the Exporters 5 to 3, ending their sojourn in Beaumont.

Up to that time, the contest had been a pitching duel, and the Exporters were holding their own, with a slight lead on results.

Fully 2,000 fans witnessed the performance, and many were dolled out in their Easter toggers; here and there a straw hat was to be seen, and even the bleachers were dotted with Easter frocks.

The Pelicans scored in the initial frame, and Skipper Edington's boys evened the count in the same period when Stump counted while Martina was retiring Huber at first.

Knaupp lined out one to center, which fell in deep left, and Bogart, who had forced Martina at first, the Pelicans ran in another score. The Exporters had not knotted the count until the eighth frame, and after that it looked like their game, unless Whitakky took the mound, relieving the former Exporter ace, and the Pelicans started their rally for five runs.

Service Will Make Or Break Ambitious Net Player, Says Richards

Star Uses Everything When Playing Against an Opponent First Time; Uses Caution Later; Combination Twist Works Good

BY VINCENT RICHARDS. The service in the lawn tennis game is a qualification that either makes or breaks a player. It is vital factor for at all times and in all matches. A player destitute of a good service can never hope to attain lofty heights in the net game.

Playing against a man for the first time, I invariably try out every kind of a service I possess during the first few games until I determine the one that is most effective against the particular opponent. On reaching a conclusion I continually bombard him with the same variety of a service.

My best service is a combination of the well known American twist service and flat straight stroke, delivered on principle of William Tilden's cannon-ball service. To make this service effective, the ball should be thrown at least two feet high and must be hit with a slanting overhead stroke, cutting the ball on either side, which causes it to take a peculiar loop after it comes in contact with the opposite side of the court.

I am continually asked whether or not I hit my second ball with the same speed that I do the first. No, not usually, unless I am enjoying a lead that I know is perfectly safe. The degree of difference, however, and two is very slight, however, and can not be detected by an audience.

To use a fast ball against "Little Bill" Johnston is "suicide." Tilden and I have agreed on this many times. The Californian ace is a demon on a speedy serve and on an average of seven times out of ten he will drive it back at you like a proverbial bullet.

Opposite Tilden, I deliver a serve to "Big Bill" that on bounces a serve to "after it strikes the court. The Philadelphia on most occasions requires a long swing to execute his stroke.

In advising ambitious players, I will say that in order for them to acquire an effective service, they should eliminate excessive speed until they are first able to place their drives.

NEW ORLEANS, April 2.—Vance and Shrieber, Brooklyn pitchers, fanned Babe Ruth three times and got him twice on infield chances, while the Robins were beating the Yanks 5 to 2.

NEW ORLEANS, April 2.—With the bases filled in the 11th Davenport passed Frank Frisch and the Giant's beat the White Sox five to four.

PIRATES LOSE. HOT SPRINGS, April 2.—The Pirate slugger got 16 hits for a total of 25 bases, but Carlson weakened and the Red Sox won 10 to 9.

PLAY TORONTO. FORT BENNING, Ga., April 2.—Manager Cobb will send his Detroit Tigers to battle against the Toronto Internationals today. The team was idle yesterday.

MARRIAGE IS BAR TO WOMEN TEACHERS. LONDON, April 2.—Four thousand married women teachers in London will lose their jobs because of the ruling of the London county council that, owing to the unemployment situation, all women teachers must be single.

Married women, however, whose husbands have deserted the family circle, are exempt from the ruling.

SPUDDERS WIN. WICHITA FALLS, April 2.—The Spudders took the last game of the series of the Tulsa Oilers. Wheeler and Darrough buried the locals to a 7 to 4 victory.

BOY, 10, IS ORGANIST AND GIVES RECITAL. BOSTON, England, April 2.—Norbert Rouse, who is only ten years old, has attained such proficiency at the organ that he played at several of the services at St. Mary's church, Boston, Lincoln and also has given a short recital.

On this occasion he played among other items "Gloria in Excelsis," Mozart's Twelfth Mass, and the Hallelujah Chorus in an exceptionally meritorious manner.

Rouse is a son of an ex-convict.

Dead Wife is Sued For Divorce in Odd Action for Damages. LONDON, April 2.—An extraordinary suit for divorce was started in the London divorce court by a man named Kent, who is suing for divorce from his wife, who died in 1921, on the grounds of her misconduct with a man named Atkinson. The object of the suit is to recover damages from Atkinson, and to do so, lawyers here, Kent will have to set a decree of divorce. The first day was occupied by legal arguments as to whether such a suit is possible or not.

MORE ROOM NEEDED TO HOUSE FOSSILS. LOS ANGELES, April 2.—Plans for the addition of several units to the Los Angeles Museum of History, Science and Art have been made by the county board of supervisors and the museum's board of governors. The present museum building is filled with representative specimens from the famous La Brea fossil pits, near here, and with an extensive collection of Spanish-California relics. Space is lacking in order to exhibit recent important contributions from Alaska, Utah and South Africa, and estimates of future acquisitions loom so large that it is proposed to provide for enlargement of the museum, by periodical addition of units, to ten times its present size.

BLUES 2D TEAM DEFEATS CRABS

Whitewash Galveston In Parting Contest

SPECIAL TO THE NEWS. GALVESTON, Texas, April 2.—Two home runs, one by Bobby Roth in the first inning and another by Reagan in the eighth were sufficient to bring a 2 to 0 victory to the Kansas City Blues in the final game of the series here Sunday. "Dumny" Collins and "Lefty" Graham, working for the Sand Crabs, gave up but five safe hits between them, but the two distance smacks were enough.

Three double plays helped Ray Caldwell and "Herb" Thormahlen materially in disposing of the Crabs without any runs here Sunday. The keystone of two of the doubles and his fielding was a feature of the contest. He accepted twelve of thirteen chances and many of them were the difficult kind. Bunny Brief, the association's home run king, went through the series hitless.

Built-In Fixtures for the New Home

Interior styles in homes are undergoing a change. The plain, square room is giving way to new artistic innovations in the shape of built-in fixtures.
Nowadays you sit down to breakfast in a cozy little breakfast room, built into some comfortable nook or corner close to the kitchen. Your book-case is built into the partition or possibly near the fire place. Kitchen cases are built into the wall with conveniences which make for greater facility in preparing meals. China closets are built into the dining room in such a manner as to add greatly to the artistic appearance of the room and to save steps in setting the table.

These and many other features are found in great variation in modern homes. They are elaborated upon in proportion to personal wish for attractiveness inside the home. And the best of it is that old homes can enjoy these new innovations without tearing down and rebuilding.

Why Live Amid Plain Surround- ings when a touch of the artistic will lift your home above the average?

We have unlimited facilities for designing, fitting and building in these or any other architectural fixtures that may be desired. We offer suggestions, submit sketches of changes to be made and do the work entirely to your order to fit each particular case.

If you desire to bring the old home up to date telephone us and we will call and give you an estimate of the changes you wish made.
